

PROPELLING THE AVIATION INDUSTRY

Combining low operating costs with a pro-business attitude, Dumas is an ideal location for aviation-related businesses.

Located approximately two miles west of Dumas, Texas, the Moore County Regional Airport features a newly expanded 6,000-foot runway to accommodate light jet traffic. A profitable alternative to the high lease rates and stricter environmental regulations at other airports around the country, the Moore County Airport serves as a strategic location for aviation MRO businesses to relocate and expand.

AERIAL VIEW OF MOORE COUNTY REGIONAL AIRPORT

Adjacent to the taxiway, the recently built Aviation Park has low lease space available. An aircraft maintenance firm, lowest priced jet and aviation fuel in the region, and a fantastic restaurant are on site for added convenience.

The Dumas Economic Development Corporation (EDC) and Moore County have incentive programs to help companies locate to the Aviation Business Park. Expansion space is available at our existing large business hangar, and plans are underway to develop additional hangar space and a new terminal building. The local college has an aviation program to help provide a trained workforce.

THE TOP 3 REASONS TO LAND YOUR BUSINESS IN DUMAS

01. LOW LEASE RATES

The Moore County Airport's low lease rates reduce your cost of doing business, so you can enjoy a higher profit margin and invest more in your company. Ample land near the airport also ensures that you'll have the space if you need to build a larger facility.

02. LENIENT REGULATIONS

With very few environmental regulations, the Moore County Airport in Dumas allows aviation-related businesses of all types to operate without the costs and headaches tied to stringent regulations.

03. PRO-BUSINESS CITY

As a pro-business town, Dumas equips its EDC with the resources needed to help you succeed. Innovative assistance programs, lower property taxes, and business development coaching are just a few of the ways it aids companies. Whether you need help starting or growing your business, the EDC will help your company thrive.
